Join UCSF Faces Race for two discussion groups and a student training on white supremacy culture at UCSF.

Learn how to:

- Take action against racism
- Build multi-racial alliances in social justice movements
- Support anti-racist leadership
- Understand histories of grassroots resistance
- Ground your work in relationships of class, gender, ability and other forms of oppression

These discussion groups on white supremacy culture will focus on institutional cultures and practices here at UCSF and will be held ahead of an all day training by The Catalyst Project.

These events are intended for student learners.

Co-sponsored by White Coats for Black Lives and the Multicultural Resource Center